

Changing EuroCCP Rulebook & Regulations

Procedure

1. Introduction

This document describes the Changing EuroCCP Rulebook & Regulations procedure of European Central Counterparty N.V. – further “EuroCCP”.

This memo explains the change management process for the Clearing Rules of EuroCCP and the role of the Risk Committee and the Advisory Board in that process.

The Clearing Rules of EuroCCP comprise the Clearing Rule Book (CRB) and the Regulations which add details to the Clearing Rules. The Clearing Rules form the general terms and conditions for the provision of our services. The CRB tends to be more stable over time and the Regulations are more flexible and change more frequently.

2. Procedure Description

2.1. Technical changes

Changes to the Clearing Rules can be of a technical nature. Examples of technical changes are changes as a result of numbering and referencing to article numbers, changes in names or duties of departments and changes to improve wording which do not alter the intended meaning.

EuroCCP will make such technical changes to the Clearing Rules without prior consultation. New versions will be published on the website.

2.2. Material changes

Clearing Rule Book

Material changes affect the conditions for the clearing service. The procedure for amending the CRB is in the CRB itself (article 3.7) and provides for a notice period of at least 30 calendar days.

Furthermore, the procedure requires EuroCCP to justify proposed changes, to consult clearing members, to give due consideration to the feedback received and to publish feedback received.

Regulations

This memo formalises the change management of the Regulations. The procedure for change will be included in each Regulation. EuroCCP currently has 18 Regulations.

When considering the due consultation for each Regulation, we have categorised these into three categories.

The first category consists of the Regulations which cover self-evident matters, matters on which no direct influence can be exerted and matters on which EuroCCP should act unilaterally. EuroCCP will not consult on changes of these Regulations.

The following Regulations fall in this category:

It also contains the percentage of collateral which must be maintained with EuroCCP. Changes in this percentage must be notified to all Clearing Participants pursuant to article 6.2.3 of the CRB.

The third category consists of the Regulations for which a formalized change process appears suitable for amendment of all or part of the provisions of the Regulation. This category includes the following Regulations:

- Regulation Clearing Hours – this Regulation determines the cycle of the working day, including the reporting and processing times. It determines indirectly the required availability of staff with the Clearing Participants pursuant to article 5.5.7 of the CRB, which calls for availability until two hours after the end of the Clearing Hours;
